WASHINGTON, March 15.—The treasury reached into the pockets of more than 7,000,000 taxpayers today hoping to extract upwards of $700,000,000 in first quarter income tax payments.

With midnight marking the zero hour for filing of returns on 1937 earnings, agents at the Internal Revenue Bureau's 64 collection offices reported the number of income statements this year will establish an all-time record high.

A year ago, the treasury received a total of 6,735,000 returns, of which 5,447,000 were from individuals and the remainder from corporations.

Expect Increase
This year, because of the boom-time business that prevailed during the spring and early summer of 1937, more than 6,000,000 returns are expected from individuals and about 1,500,000 from corporations.

Despite the pronounced business slump that set in during the final quarter of last year, treasury officials hoped the income tax yield this month will approximate that of March 15, 1937, when $700,000,000 flowed into government money vaults.

Although the total number of individuals and corporations filing income tax returns this year will be larger than in any year since adoption of the new law.

PA NEW OBSERVES

City street department workmen began this morning to repair Locust street, between Lincoln avenue and Boyles avenue. This street suffered a great deal during the winter months and the repairs will be appreciated by residents of the section.

A young couple from Ohio pulled their car into a meter parking space this morning, put a nickel in the meter, and this Pa. News helped them work the combination. Then the gentleman asked: "Where is the court house?"

According to Merle Raisley, who has just returned from an extended business trip through West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, the people of Kentucky are already moving their lawns, spring arriving there a month earlier than in our section.

Last remnants of the local flatiron building, the triangular hotel structure at the intersection of South Mill street and Croton avenue has been eliminated. The site is being used for other purposes.

It is suggested by local housewives, that since the ground is thawing a bit, and is soft, they request that school children, milkmen, mailmen, and others, use the side walks ONLY. They have pride in their yards, and to keep them nice until the ground is more solid, it is asked that this thought be kept in mind by those persons having occasion to deliver milk, mail, papers, groceries, etc. It will be appreciated.

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, March 15.—Foreign newspapermen were detained at the Vienna foreign office today while Chancellor Hitler was accorded his official reception amid a gigantic military display in the city's ancient Heroes square, according to a Reuter dispatch.

An hour after they were detained, the report said, the correspondents were released, following completion of the reception to the Fuehrer.

The report said the correspondents were held at the foreign office when they went there to obtain permits to "cover" the reception. The correspondents visited the foreign office in accordance with a request made to them last night.

Aged Lumbermen Riding Raft, To Encounter Falls

Seven Lumbermen Of Yesteryear Are Riding Raft
Toward Harrisburg

(International News Service)
CLEARFIELD, Pa., March 15.—Eleven-year-old Chest Falls today faced seven aged lumbermen cruising down the Susquehanna river on a log raft in a re-enactment of a pioneer voyage.

The Falls are recognized as the most dangerous stretch in the tortuous 200 miles to Harrisburg.

It took a three and a half foot "flood" to send the 112-foot raft on its way late yesterday from Burnside, with Skipper Harry Connors at the helm.

The raft is made up of 51 logs about 46 feet long.

Twenty-six years ago Connors and O. B. Torkin, another veteran lumberman, piloted a raft down the river to Harrisburg.

The youngest member of the crew, now 54, began his career on the river when 11 years old.

Road House Is Damaged By Fire

Loss Of Around $700 Sustained In Fire On Ellwood
City Road Early Today

Fire, which is believed to have started from a carelessly dropped cigarette caused a loss of around $700 at the Gardens, a road house on the Ellwood City road, just this side of the Skyline Heights golf course, at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Miss Mary Shaffer, of Young street, is the proprietor, firemen were informed.

City firemen answered a telephoned alarm for help and saved the building from destruction. The rear of the structure was badly damaged by the blaze, and the contents were damaged by smoke and flames.

Originally built for a garage, the place had been used as a road house for several years. The damage to the contents was covered by insurance, it was stated.

At 9:28 this morning, firemen were called back to the place, a spark having been found smoldering near the roof of the structure. It was quickly extinguished.

Text Of Austro-German Speech Made By Hitler

(International News Service)

VIENNA, March 15.—Following is the text of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's Austro-German union speech in the heroes square:

"German men and women! Within the past few days a revolution has been going on which we can see in its extent, but the real importance of which will be realized only by future generations."

"The former rulers of this country spoke so often of the special mission of this land. The leader of the legitimists set forth in a memorandum that their aim was the so-called independence of Austria, which however was then dependent upon foreign money."

"In contrast with the former programs of the now deposed leader (former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg) who wanted to prevent formation of a great and powerful Reich, I now herewith proclaim that the oldest eastern province of Germany shall now become the youngest bulwark of the nation and the Reich."

"For centuries it has been a bulwark against storms from the east. For all the future, this eastern province of Germany shall become an iron guarantor for the security of the German Reich, and thereby a guarantor for the happiness and peace of our great nation."

"I know that this old eastern province of the German Reich will be equal to its new task. I speak in behalf of millions of the wonderful country of Austria when I assure the other 65,000,000 that this country is German."

"For this country is German. It has become aware of its mission, it will fulfill it and will not be surpassed in its loyalty by anyone."

"It is our will and task to make Austria a stronghold of Nazidom and solve its big social and economic problems."

According to Sheriff Ralph Gear, young Crabb, shown with his mother, has made a "full confession."

Attack On Aggression Seen In Remarks By Pope Pius

(BULLETIN)

VATICAN CITY, March 15.—In a thinly-veiled attack on aggression, Pope Pius today pledged the Catholic church to a never-ending fight to halt the "forces which menace every nation and all peoples."

The pontiff's remarks were made to Bernard De Lescault, new Belgian ambassador to the Holy See, when the latter presented his credentials here.

In presenting himself to the pontiff, the new envoy said:

"Belgium confirms her unalterable relations with the Vatican as a free independent state which one day asked her very existence to halt an invader."

De Lescault assured the pope Belgium is ready to risk her life again "to maintain the high moral standards which constitute humanity's greatest heritage."

"I am full of joy," the pope said in reply, "over all you have said on behalf of your king and your people."

"We assure Belgium that we will continue to fight against that power which in the past, abused by force and menace the very life of your country and which now seeks to penetrate everywhere, menacing everyone."

The Holy See, Pope Pius concluded, will never cease its struggles to combat these efforts.

Believe Flood Danger Remote

Pittsburgh Scans Weather For Possible Repetition Of St.
Patrick's Day Flood

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 15.—Falling rivers and an approaching rainstorm raced each other today as western Pennsylvania wondered about the possibility of another flood for St. Patrick's Day.

Danger was remote, Weatherman W. P. Brozman reported after hearing all streams were receding in the headwaters.

Nevertheless, the approach of more rain constituted a threat. The storm was centered in the Midwest, and was expected to reach here tonight or tomorrow.

The Allegheny and the Monongahela rivers will reach their crest at 18 or 20 feet, according to Brozman, early tonight. "They will be falling when the new rain starts tonight."

"All the headwaters are falling," Brozman said. "The Stony creek is falling at Johnstown. There has been no rain at Warren. The river stage is 17 1/2 feet now."

"I don't believe there is much danger from the new rain that is indicated," he added. "It might pass well to the north of us. In any event, the rivers will be falling fast before it starts."

Horse And Buggy Day Reminders Seen Downtown

Hitching Rings In Mill Street
Curbing Almost At Washington Street

Several reminders of the horse and buggy days, right in the heart of New Castle, were noted this morning.

Pastured in the curbing on North Mill street, just north of Washington street, are a number of iron rings the kind that were used many years ago to hitch a horse to.

There are at least four of these rings that have survived in the space of a hundred feet or so north of Washington street on Mill, on the east side of the street.

How long they have been there would probably tax the memory of most old timers in the city.

There are probably some of these reminders of the horse and buggy days on other streets of the city.

On North Mill street one of the rings is located almost beside one of the modern parking meters.

Britain Speeds Rearmament
Plans As Hitler Pro-

By KINGSBURY SMITH

LONDON, March 15.—Tension between London and Berlin mounted today as Chancellor Hitler, in Vienna, formally proclaimed Austro-German unification in the face of significantly speeded British rearmament plans.

The picture of a Britain ready for war was the picture etched in the minds of the English public today as a result of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's speech in the House of Commons, foreboding the nation's people and industries co-ordinated in the task of preparing for a struggle.

Conscription Likely
Although government circles denied it, many observers saw in the prime minister's speech more than the hint that conscription may be instituted in England for the first time since World war days.

Adding to its significance, Chamberlain linked his declaration of preparedness with a "severe condemnation" of Hitler's Austrian conquest.

No sooner had Chamberlain finished his speech than the German government issued a statement that it was "deeply shocked" by the British declaration.

Exchange Club Meets In B. & O. Dining Car

Something new in the way of civic club meetings was tried Monday night by the Exchange club when it held its regular weekly dinner-meeting in a dining car of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

A trip through the New Castle Junction round house and the various shops attendant was held before the dinner.

T. N. Heckman, weekmaster of the B. & O. is a member of the Exchange club as is James Delawrence, a freight conductor. The two arranged the affair with Mr. Heckman taking charge of the trip through the shops.

Revelation To Men
To most of the Exchange members the trip through the shops was a revelation. They saw at first hand the huge "boes" that pull the freight and passenger traffic of the railroad, the repair shops where skilled mechanics repair everything from a motor car to an eight-foot driver, the blacksmith shops where men work with red hot steel, the pipe shops, electrical shops, and the various other shops necessary to a huge terminal.

During the inspection period a fire drill was held, the employees turning out in record time to their fire fighting stations. The whole visit was an experience to the members of the Exchange club for many of them had never seen any more of a round house than one sees on a passing train.

Two Proceedings Against Liquor Dealers Started

Chief of Police Ralph A. Gravel stated today that he had received instructions from Mayor Charles E. McGowan to swear to informations against two proprietors of places in which beer or liquor is dispensed on the allegation that two proprietors had secured intoxicating beverages in those places. On Monday the mayor stated stiff opposition to minors securing intoxicating beverages in local places and declared that he would order the police chief to take action against anyone responsible for such an act.

Col. Homer Groninger Compliments Men And Officers On Fitness

AWAIT OPENING OF NEW ARMORY

Inspection of Troop K, 103rd Cavalry, TNG, which was conducted here last evening by Col. Homer Groninger, of Harrisburg, and Major Maurice Rose, of Fort Meade, resulted in the local national guard unit passing their inspection tests with flying colors.

Col. Groninger complimented the men and officers in their high state of efficiency, when he predicted would be further increased when the troop gets into their new armory, which is expected to occur next summer.

Captain William T. Fletcher, who was expected to conduct the state inspection was unable to be present, and Major Rose acted in his stead.

The visiting officers were guests of the Civilian Sponsoring Committee and troop officers at dinner in the Castleton, preceding the state inspection, when a number of troop problems were discussed and plans made to remedy them.

On the whole, Col. Groninger found the troop in excellent condition, and stated that the season of the summer encampment period would put them on a higher level of fitness.

Dr. A. W. Sheehan, treasurer of the Chest, presided in the absence of President A. L. Butz, Jr., and Vice President Alex. Samuels. Dr. Sheehan was authorized to appoint a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers.

EXCHANGE CLUB MEETS IN B. & O. DINING CAR

In a dining car which had been placed on a government side track, with very little imagination one could feel himself speeding over the point of view, the while waiters were bringing in more food. The quickest and most descriptive way of describing the dinner is to say it was B. & O. service. Both food and service were tops.

Following the dinner H. Gil Brown, president of the Exchange club, spoke briefly and turned the program over to T. N. Hockman, who introduced the speakers.

The chief speaker was M. W. Jones of Baltimore, Md., editor of the B. & O. magazine. In an interesting fashion he told of the early days of the "iron horse," the part of some of its friends at one time that it would be crowded by other forms of transportation and the rebuilding of public confidence to the point where it realized that the railroads were and are indispensable to the prosperity and happiness of the nation.

No other one industry is so essential to the prosperity and happiness of us all as the railroads, said Mr. Jones. "The railroads are entitled to equitable treatment, or they will all end in bankruptcy. We ask you to remember that in this country there is an army of one million people working on the various railroads, that the roads use one-third of all the steel produced, a fourth of all the steel produced and these proportions follow in other commodities."

Other officials of the road spoke briefly. Among them were W. F. Harris, division master mechanic; Ralph B. Fisher, general car foreman; C. H. Cotton, assistant road foreman of engines; Oscar Lott, trainmaster, and Frank J. Doyle, president of the Federated Shop Crafters.

Other officials who were guests at the dinner were Vincent P. Travers, chief clerk, I. L. Harper, general foreman; F. J. Lindner, district superintendent; J. E. Cable, terminal superintendent, was called away on business and could not be present, and Superintendent W. C. Baker was called to Baltimore and could not be present.

Insurgents Take Two Cities In Aragon Sector

HENDAYE, France, March 15.—Loss of Alcaniz and Calanda on the Aragon front after terrific fighting and an intense insurgent aerial bombardment was admitted today by a government communique issued at Barcelona.

Alcaniz is one of the most important strategic points in the entire Aragon region. Its capture by the rebels is regarded as a heavy blow for the government forces.

A jubilant insurgent announcement at Salamanca stated the advance insurgent troops had occupied all the rail and several villages surrounding Alcaniz and that 1,000 prisoners and a large amount of logistical war materials had been captured.

Insurgent officials at Saragossa claimed their troops had won 20,000 square miles in the Aragon offensive, including three towns and 60 villages.

Six loyalist divisions, it was stated, were "virtually annihilated" during the last six days of fighting.

Bombing Planes Sweep Over

Four hundred German bombing planes sweeping low over the center of Vienna tonight, the Austrians are other lesson of Germany's aerial strength as the Fuehrer reviewed his troops.

It was at 2 p. m. that he made his second appearance in the heroes square before the monument to Austria's unknown soldier.

The roar of the airplane engines drowned out the shouts of the crowd as German and Austrian troops goose-stepped before their commander-in-chief.

For the first time since Hitler's arrival, contingents of the Austrian army—fifty arm trucks, infantry and light and heavy motorized field artillery, participated.

Immediately behind the Austrians came 60 German armored cars and 100 motorized machine-gun units. Most impressive of all was the new German "condor gun" of 10 centimetre calibre, followed by five-foot, eight-inch siege guns.

Then came an anti-tank detachment of three inch guns of the type used in the Spanish war, together with anti-aircraft, machine-gun and armored car units capable of 45 miles an hour.

Hitler's speech at the heroes monument was delivered at 11 a. m.

Hitler returned to his hotel through streets lined with hundreds of thousands, pressed to the breaking point against lines of German police.

Many Bodyguards

He drove ahead, standing erect in an open car, his right arm outstretched, his head up, a proud smile on his usually grave face.

On each side came the familiar cars of his bodyguard, four long black automobiles with two to three men on each running board.

Between guards, the best pistol marksmen in Germany, snared at the crowd—and each kept his hand on his holster.

During Hitler's stay in Vienna, every road into the city is being barred to private automobile traffic. Every train coming into the city from Germany is occupied exclusively by German army and police officers and civil service and customs officials.

They are arriving in such numbers it is obvious that from now on administration of the country will be controlled by responsible representatives of the Third Reich.

Entire staffs of Nazi newspapermen are arriving to take over Austrian newspapers. Travelers arriving from various points report that every road into Austria is crowded with German army units while troop trains are overrunning railway facilities. Even crack expresses are three hours late.

The principal concentration of troops is taking place on the Czechoslovakian frontier.

ished speaking than Home Minister, Sir Samuel Hoare broadcast by radio a dramatic appeal for at least 1,000,000 civilians to join the nation's air raid protective services to "prepare against the most dangerous form of modern warfare."

In the House of Commons Sir Frederick Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, revealed that Britain had urged Germany to withdraw her troops from Austria.

To Withdraw Troops?

He said the Reich government gave assurances the troops would be withdrawn as soon as normal conditions are restored in Austria. And Butler added:

"We sincerely hope the assurances received will be carried out."

This remark drew derisive laughter from the opposition benches, laughter which broke out again when Sir Frederick said that in response to pleas for mercy for Austrian Jews, Catholics and socialists, Germany promised:

"Every effort will be used to ensure a sense of moderation."

Chamberlain, in his speech, made it clear the British government is vitally interested in central Europe. But he avoided the question of whether Britain had given secret assurances to France for support in the event it should be deemed necessary to defend the independence of Czechoslovakia—the nation many quarters believe is next on Hitler's list.

Mrs. May S. Houston.

Mrs. May S. Houston, after a long illness, passed away at 2:15 p. m. on Monday at her home, 461 Neshannock avenue. Her health had been poor for the past several years.

Mrs. Houston passed her lifetime in New Castle and was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Her parents were John and Elizabeth Bay Stanley.

Her husband, A. R. Houston, preceded her in death. Her nearest relatives are two cousins, George W. Roe, of Elwood City and James E. Bay, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will take place at the residence Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

William E. Koonce.

William E. Koonce, aged 75 years, of 209 Milton street, passed away in the New Castle hospital on Monday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. He had been ailing for some time but had been in the hospital only since Sunday.

Mr. Koonce was born in Mercer county September 4, 1862, son of William and Angeline Koonce.

He had lived in New Castle for the past 45 years. He was employed, for a number of years ago, by the Republic Steel, Erie Furnace, and later by the Gracelli Chemical company.

His wife, Ellen, died in June, 1934. Surviving are two sons, William and Edward of New Castle; two grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Melba DeWitt of Sharon.

Alexandrina Canfora, Jr.

The paternal and maternal grandfathers, Joseph Bordonaro, of South Mill street, New Castle, and Philip Canfora, in Carey, also survive.

It is thought that the funeral will be held Thursday, but arrangements had not been completed at the time the paper went to press.

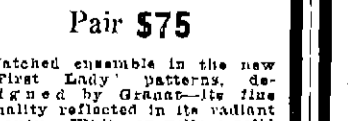

Robert Mackie.

His many friends were saddened by the news of Robert Mackie's death on Monday at a Pittsburgh hospital where he was undergoing treatment. Mr. Mackie, a resident of 122 Eighth avenue, had been a well known New Castle business man for years, proprietor of the Mackie Wool, Paper and Paint store, located on East North street. He was 51 years of age.

Beginning tonight with a service at 7:30 p.m., and for each succeeding Tuesday night for thirteen weeks, a solemn novena in preparation for the Feast of St. Anthony on June 13 is being conducted at St. Vitus church.

Sermons will be preached each Tuesday night by Rev. P. N. DeMara's assistant, Rev. S. P. Jones. These sermons are usually attended by hundreds of people, many of whom are from outlying districts, for the Feast of St. Anthony is one of the greatest of the year.

St. Vitus is the only church in Lawrence county with a robe of St. Anthony. The shrine has been beautifully decorated for this most solemn novena.

Spelling Bee Is Forum Feature

Lawrence County Garden Forum Is Entertained By Harbor Garden Club

An old-fashioned spelling bee was the cause of much interest Monday evening, when the Harbor Garden club acted as hosts to the Lawrence County Garden Forum. The meeting took place in the Harbor U. P. church. Various garden clubs of the county, including the Men's Garden club, were represented.

Mrs. A. T. Eccles, president of the Harbor club, opened the meeting and the regular routine business session was conducted. At the close, the meeting was turned over to the program committee and all took part in the "bee."

At the conclusion of the "spelling-down," Mrs. William Howley, president of the Forum and a member of the Lawrence County Garden club, and Mrs. John Robinson, president of the East Brook Garden club, emerged victorious with a tie score. Mrs. Mary Robinson of the East Side Garden club, received the consolation prize.

Those who had charge of the spelling bee included: Mrs. Carl Rulmer, chairman; Mrs. Harold Bauer, Mrs. Henry Kuehman and Mrs. Marvin Dismore.

Madame's Garden club members will be hosts to the Forum at their meeting on the second Monday of April. The place of the meeting will be made known later.

City To Issue Bonds Of $100,000

Funds To Be Used For Improvement Work—Interest Rate To Be Low

When council convened in the city building Monday there was introduced by Finance Director James L. Pink, a measure which provides for an increase in the bond indebtedness of the city in the amount of $100,000. The bonds will not draw more than three per cent, the bill stated. They will mature in 1948.

According to the finance director, the council decided upon the sale of bonds to secure $50,000 for the Euclid avenue-North Mercer street storm sewer and the balance of the money will be used to buy materials for paving of streets.

Pink explained that in the past the city has given certificates of indebtedness for improvements. They drew six per cent, he added, and realizing that the city could secure the money cheaper through the sale of bonds it was agreed to float the issue.

The bill was sent to committee, reported favorably and ordered printed, pending advertisement and final passage.

There also was reported favorably from committee a bill, submitted some time ago, which provides for the redemption of $82,000 worth of bonds, issue of 1922, which drew 4½ per cent.

HOW THE THREE LEADING LOW-PRICED CARS COMPARE IN SIZE, ROOM, COMFORT

The size of a car is generally thought to depend upon how much it costs.

The more expensive it is...the roomier it is expected to be.

So any one considering the purchase of one of the three leading low-priced cars might expect to find them all about the same in size because the cost is about the same.

Actually, there are many important differences. The new Plymouth is nearly 7 inches longer than one; more than 10 inches longer than the other!

SOME OF THE BIG VALUE FEATURES OF THE NEW 1938 PLYMOUTH

THE BEAUTIFUL new 1938 Plymouth looks bigger—is bigger—than either of the other two leading low-priced cars. But extra room is just one reason for Plymouth's greater comfort.

You'll find the new Plymouth has faster steering, easier handling. Big airplane-type shock absorbers and "live" rubber body mountings soak up bumps, jolts, vibration. You ride at ease.

The new Plymouth is the only low-priced car that gives you "radio studio" sound-proofing, double-action hydraulic brakes, an all-steel body, patented Floating Power engine mountings.

In addition, Plymouth owners report 18 to 24 miles on gas...amazing savings on all upkeep.

Four-ring pistons, silent, chain-driven camshaft, a Hypoid rear axle, an oil filter—these are important DeLuxe Plymouth features that most manufacturers use on higher-priced lines only.

China Wonders At Red Cross

Ambassador Wang Expresses Disappointment Over Attitude Of Humane Agency

UNABLE TO GET CREDIT IN TRADE

Washington Bureau, 602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 15.—"It is obvious," says Chinese Ambassador C. T. Wang, "that American sympathies are predominantly with my country as against Japan."

"Nevertheless, I have been a bit disappointed by the Red Cross. To be sure, the Red Cross folk offered aid to China and the Japanese alike. I do not mean military aid. I mean aid to civilian war sufferers. Japan declined. She could afford to do so for she has not been invaded. Her civilians have not suffered. China's have, as we accepted. But the Red Cross seems to have considered Japan's refusal as equivalent to a Chinese refusal also."

"Anyway, Red Cross contributions to China have been very scanty, to put it mildly. This is notwithstanding the fact that President and Mrs. Roosevelt both have issued appeals in China's behalf. "It almost appears that the Red Cross has discouraged gifts for the relief of victims of the terrible strife in the Orient. I suppose there is a feeling that too exuberant a display of solicitude for China alone might be interpreted as unneutral."

Well, as I have said, I have been disappointed."

AND WHY NO CREDITS?
"Another thing," continued the ambassador, "it strikes me that China perhaps should have been granted credits for its campaign against invasion."

"It is traditional that the word of a Chinese is as good as his bond. Nationally China never has defaulted on a debt. 'Some countries have.'"

"I should think," added the Chinese representative, "that our credit ought to be pretty good."

JAPANESE FEELING EFFECT?
Recent dispatches are to the effect that the Japanese are making fresh peace overtures toward China.

"This is the fourth time they have done so," said Ambassador Wang. "Their resources are giving out. How soon will they GIVE out? 'I wish I knew,' replied the ambassador, 'but they will give out sooner than ours.'"

Japan is trying to set up a puppet Chinese government in Nanking, similar to the government of Manchukuo, under Japanese control. "Will it work?"

"Absolutely not," answers the Chinese ambassador. "But suppose China does, in the long run, beat the Japanese, and drive them out of China 'proper.' Then what about Manchukuo?"

"It will become," replied Ambassador Wang, "a buffer state, between China, Russia and Japan—like Austria in Europe. But it will be Chinese mainly."

It is discouraging to hear about more "buffer states"—but that is what the ambassador said.

"FIGHTING WORLD'S BATTLE"
How about China—if it wins over the Japanese?—as a tremendously powerful democratic state, across the Pacific from the United States, to the westward?

"First," insisted the ambassador, "the Japanese military machine has got to be destroyed. The Japanese PEOPLE are all right. I like them. Their militarists are the folk who must be exterminated."

"China, mind you," he emphasized, "is fighting the world's battle of democracy."

Boy Scout Court Of Honor Planned For March 25 Here

Special Ceremony Is Planned For Eagle Scouts At March Scout Event

A notable occasion will be marked on March 25, when the monthly Boy Scout Court of Honor is conducted in the First United Presbyterian church. Several of the scouts from the Lawrence County Council will be given the Eagle Scout rank, which is the highest rank in scouting.

It is very seldom that more than one person is awarded his Eagle pin at an honor court, and it is for this reason that a special program is being planned for the presentation ceremonies.

Dr. R. C. Lutz, chairman of the court, will be in charge of the affair.

In addition to having a special ceremony, a new Eagle Scout ceremony will be used, which has never before been witnessed in New Castle. Parents of the boys will be especially invited to attend this affair on March 25.

Big Decrease In Number Of Fatal Automobile Mishaps

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 15.—Gov. George H. Earle called Pennsylvania's attention today to more than 25 per cent reduction in the highway death toll for January as compared to that month a year ago.

According to the revenue department, 55 fewer lives were lost during January, 1938, than during the same period the previous year. One hundred thirty-eight deaths were reported this year, as against 193 a year ago.

"This decrease of fatalities has resulted in spite of an increased use of our roads of more than 5,000,000 miles over January of last year, as indicated by an increased gasoline consumption of 4.16 per cent for this January as compared to January, 1937," the governor said. He attributed the reduction to enforcement of the new 50-mile-an-hour speed law, with its 90-day license revocation penalty, and to greater motorist-consciousness of other highway hazards.

Governor Earle expressed his thanks to motorists for "their magnificent cooperation in our safety drive."

FUR BUSINESS GOOD
(International News Service)
LARAMIE, Wyo.—The oldest industry in Laramie, that of supplying mink with furs, was one of the city's most successful last year. It was announced that $50,000 worth of furs were sold during 1937, an off-year, by seven farms near the city. More than 700 fox pelts were sold. Jacques La Ramie, early trapper after whom the city was named, first entered this area in search of furs.

"Good music is good fun," said Ross Rosenberger today as he got his organization started on the campaign for Civic Music association memberships. "Good music is not for any particular class" continued Mr. Rosenberger. "It is for everyone, the banker and the butcher, the lady and the laborer, each of them add to their lives by the enjoyment of good music."

"Those of us who are engaged in the campaign for the Civic Music association are doing it because we want New Castle to enjoy the best there is in music. It is possible to bring the most famous names in music to New Castle if we can cooperate sufficiently to underwrite the expense. Martinelli, Flagstad, Pons, Moore, these and a host of others are possible if we have the membership.

"The one thing we want to do is to break down an entirely synthetic barrier which has surrounded the so-called "better music," said Rosenberger. "It never needed any apologists or interpreters. It was always good music and because it was and is good music it is good fun. Let's put this campaign over with the idea that we are adding to the genuine pleasure and entertainment of ourselves and neighbors and refuse to believe that it takes a doctor of philosophy degree to enjoy concerts."

Declare Mussolini Took Attitude On Austria To Prevent War

Allowed Seizure To Avoid Conflict

Opposition Would Have Started European War It Is Asserted

AUSTRIAN SOLUTION MEETS APPROVAL

By FRANK GERVASI
Copyright, 1938

ROME, March 13.—Premier Mussolini permitted Chancellor Hitler to march into Austria unopposed in order to save the peace of Europe.

So declared an unimpeachable Italian source who is in a position to speak for the Fascist government in giving International News Service a straight-from-the-shoulder clarification of Italy's policy in the current international drama.

To Avoid War

"Opposition to Hitler would have meant war," this source explained. "That is why the Italian government regretted the French government's bid for joint military action against Germany."

This informant explained that Premier Mussolini was prepared to sacrifice prestige, pride, "anything except human life" to avoid such a war.

"Let's not debate ourselves," he added. "The Germans already were at Brenner Pass. Under conditions of undeclared war, with the speed of modernized troops and the high speed of bombing planes, the value of Austria as a cushion state had vanished."

"We have a natural frontier of rugged mountains and we have great military strength."

"In this strength and in the promise of Hitler never to violate the Italian frontier we have great faith."

And it is now clear, the informant declared, that the German government is fully aware Italy will never give up territory south of the border in the Italian Tyrol.

"It is hopeless," he said. "For Hitler to look longingly at this former Austrian territory in his plans for unification of the Germanic peoples."

Italy Gives Approval

Italy's official view is that former Austrian chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg did not what he deserved for attempting to call a plebiscite on Austrian independence without consulting Rome and Berlin. "Had he done so, Mussolini might have been able to dissuade him from carrying out that plan."

But now, it was stated, Italy can only echo approval of what has happened. Furthermore, it is believed here that the Austrian problem sooner or later would have been solved the way Hitler has solved it in any event.

Officially Italy is declared to have collaborated along the lines of the Rome-Berlin axis "for maintenance of peace."

This collaboration, said the informant, will continue and will, in fact, be "intensified" rather than diminished as a result of the events in Austria.

Finally, it was stressed, by refusing to oppose Germany in Austria, Mussolini cancelled his debt of gratitude to Hitler, who alone supported Italy in the early days of the Ethiopian war.

Business Is Before Rotarians Monday

Blackwood, chairman of the committee handling the institute arrangements.

Gay colors, like French blue, rose, burnt oak, etc., are being used for smart little jackets and dresses for the golf courses.

Keeping 50,000 Electric Meters In Perfect Order Provides Big Task Here

In every residence where there is an electric meter there is a jewel; yes, a sapphire and although Mr. Home Occupant perhaps doesn't realize it, the fact remains that, no watch in the city is kept as accurate as a meter.

This is what a News writer learned yesterday when he accompanied Charles Latona, superintendent of the meter department, Pennsylvania Power company, on an inspection tour of the meter department in Shennago street.

The company owns 50,000 meters, so it may be realized that Latona has a large task to see that every meter is functioning properly, both for customer and for company. He has a staff of 15 subordinates, every one skilled in meter work, and according to the superintendent, the men who perform tasks in the meter division must have steel-like nerves, excellent eye-sight and be patient, as the work is tedious.

Of the 50,000 meters there are 25,000 in the New Castle district. Every meter whether or not in good condition, must be tested every five years. It is tested on a standard meter, sealed by the Public Utilities. And if a meter does not work right, it is removed from a house immediately, tested and repaired. While it is out another accurate meter is installed.

When a meter is taken from a home it is delivered to the test room of the Shennago street building. Yesterday there were 550 there, of which 450 were to be tested. The workers examine approximately 60 to 75 meters daily. When it reaches the test room, the test is made to determine the condition of the meter. This is a rule of the Public Utilities which the company faithfully follows.

Step number two is to put the meter through a 2,000 insulation test. This test will show any existing fault. In cases where a home has a three wire service, especially for cooking, a test is made on two different voltages. After this the meters go to the test board for an examination as to accuracy.

According to Latona, commercial and industrial meters are cut down to one tenth of one percent of accuracy. This result is obtained through the standard meter which is checked and sealed by the utilities commission, once a year. It is through comparison of local meters with the standard meter that the desired accuracy is obtained. Meters which do not come within the desired accuracy are repaired.

Supply In Meter

The meter bearing is a very important part. It is a sapphire held in what the meter department superintendent calls a "jewel." These sapphires are small and are tested under what is known as a 150 power microscope which shows any defect. The sapphires, as said in the foregoing are very minute and costly. The good sapphires are restored to meters and those found defective are restored. After this examination, the meter is re-tested, sealed and placed in or outside some home.

The life of a modern meter is 20 years. It proves very accurate in temperatures as far as 30 degrees below zero and 120 degrees above zero. The meter, according to Latona, is more accurate than any watch and keeps that way despite the temperatures as mentioned.

All meters now are being placed on the outside of homes, at a location agreed upon by the occupant and the company. This gives the meter reader a chance to read the meter when the occupant is away and also allows this work without the meter reader travelling through the house and perhaps shedding some mud from his shoes as he reads. The meters placed outside are housed in an aluminum socket, provided by the company for the purpose.

On Court House Hill

REALTY TRANSFERS

George T. Weingartner to David M. Penten, Neshannock township, $1.

Ruth Gladys O'Neil to John H. O'Neil, 5th ward, $1.

Margie H. Miller to Margery J. Gillfillan, 2nd ward, $500.

County Commissioners Floyd L. Colton, George H. Bolinger and A. R. Turner were notified on Monday of the intention of the state highway department to improve .58 mile of road, two small culverts and a twenty two foot bridge on the road leading from Walnut known as the Palaski road. The cost of the improvement will not be large and should not exceed $20,000.

Bids will be opened in Harrisburg on March 23 it was announced and work on the improvements should start shortly after. On the same day bids will be opened for new roads in Mercer, McKean and Venango counties.

A petition was received by the court on Monday signed by voters of the second precinct of the third ward, asking that Mrs. Amanda Weaver be appointed inspector of election in the precinct, due to a vacancy in the Republican inspectorship.

Under the law the court was not permitted to make the appointment as Mrs. Weaver is registered as a Democrat. The appointment to fill a vacancy in an election board must come from the same party as that in which the vacancy occurs. This was the only reason the appointment was not made.

On the morning of the opening of criminal court there is always a parade of prisoners pleading to the charges against them. Usually they put off making their pleas until they are right up against trial week, the theory apparently being that something might happen which would free them before criminal court opens.

Under an act passed in the 1937 session of the General Assembly a sentenced prisoner's time must start from the day he first entered the county jail. For example, if a man is arrested today, his case could not come before the grand jury until June, if he has no bail he remains in the county jail until June. If he is convicted he is sentenced, but the time spent in the county jail applies on his sentence. The law appears to be a just one for this reason. A man might be arrested for a violation that would not justify more than 60 days in jail. If he remained there sixty days until grand jury time and was convicted it was possible in the old days to start his sentence from the day he appeared before the court.

The improvements around the court house are nearing a finish for this year. Following the conclusion of the painting of the register and recorder's office, the corridor both down stairs and up, the stairway, the library and the adjoining rooms will be painted. A new carpet will be laid in the law library.

In the past six months more extensive improvements have been made. A new county commissioner's office was installed, a new stairway put in, the county treasurer's office had an addition made to it and was painted and the other painting done or is to be done. The total cost of all these improvements will not exceed $50,000, which is a reasonable cost considering what was done.

Davis Sets New Scoring Record In Church Loop

Epworth's Star Center Makes 49 As Team Tops Second U. P. 79-16

TIFFERETH FIVE TAKES VICTORY

Davis star center of the Epworth M. E. church, on basketball team set what is believed to be a local scoring record of 49 points, and certainly an all-time high in the New Castle Church league last night at the "Y" by getting the grand total of 49 points as his mates topped the Second U. P. church team in a league game 79 to 16.

Davis had 34 field goals and a four foul for his 49 points. He had 10 field goals the first half and 14 the last half. H. Weber, the star Epworth forward, had 18 points in the game, and Kennedy and Reed had the rest. Warner and Dismore paced the Second U. P. team in scoring.

Tiffereth Israel's Win
In the first game of the card the Tiffereth Israel with the Solomon brothers having 24 of the points, missed out the last First Presbyterian team 30 to 36. For the losers the work of Tiffereth Israel, McGowan and Duffey, along with McNeill and McGowan was the best.

The First Christians forfeited their game to the First M. E. team. The summaries:

Rambling Around In Local Sports World

The toughest position in baseball? That would be the most fastidious. The "Stove Leaguers" have dropped in the following inquiry to the Rambling Reporter . . . in your mind, which position is the most difficult in baseball? signed, The Stove Leaguers. . . like most of the brother baseball scribers, we say the catching post is the toughest. . . aside from the pitcher who puts his mitts on every ball, the back stopper has his hands on the ball more than any other member of the team. . . his chores are many and strenuous. . . for one thing, he must have a good memory. . . he must remember that Home Zooly does not like a pitch around the knees. . . that Archie Slumbo hates one around the shoulders, and that Joe Blow will really blow one out of the park if he is fed one on the outside corner. . . when you say to think of the number of players in one of the leagues, one readily realizes what a task this is. . . this is only one of the numerous chores on the catcher's bill of fare. . . he must give the twister the signal on pitches. . . then, of course, he must hold on to the ball at all times. . . he must see to it that runners don't steal. . . he must be "taps" in tagging foul tips. . . chasing foul tips is among the most strenuous things on a backstopper's program. . . quite a few times the catcher is brought against the stands and sometimes a foul tip will send the catcher rushing near first base as well as third base. . . then, he must be quick to nab a wild pitch. . . although wild pitches are scarce in the majors, sometimes they crop up and mean a ball game. . . it is up to the catcher to nail the ball and prevent the winning run, or stop a runner from advancing. . . several times during a ball game, the iron man must rush to grab a ball which has a few feet away from the home plate. . . another important routine is the job of attempting to nail a runner coming home following a base hit. . . picture yourself standing in front of the plate waiting to catch the ball from the outfield and then throw out a man rushing at top speed towards the plate. . . it takes nerve to stand at the plate prepared to halt a runner whose intentions are to cross the rubber regardless of whether the catcher gets spiked or spilled. . . these are to our mind the duties that come to our mind. . . above all, a catcher must be in tip-top shape at all times. . . if there is another member of a ball club who has more to do than a catcher, we would like to know who it is. . . in most cases, punters winners have aces in their backstop department. . . take Dickey, Hartnett, Cochrane, Mancuso, etc.

Bits gathered along the sports trail. . . Morris Aronoff, Philly outfielder, spent the winter months coaching Superior Cathedral high school basketball team. . . a saving grace has been made a winter sport at Harvard, with major letters at prizes to the varsity men. . . the average trotter gets only one nail-out during the racing season. . . he gets two during the winter, when his hair grows faster to keep him warm. . . Alfred LeTourneur, French six-day bike specialist, eats little cooked meat during a race. . . he prefers raw meat, claiming that it is easier to digest. . . this year, a new record for attendance at collegiate basketball games was set at Madison Square Garden. . . 162,393 fans saw the 12 doubleheaders played.

The lone wolf of hockey. . . Armand Raymond, defense man for the Montreal Maroons, was the title of the lone wolf in hockey. . . he is the only player in the National Hockey League who wears a mustache and a cute handlebar at that, they tell us.

Looking backwards. . . before being set down by the class Ford City team, Har-Brack High captured 21 victories without a spill. . . Ford City won 15 and lost 7 during the season. . . the strange part about Ford City's record was that the conquerors of New Castle dropped decisions to teams considered in the "mediocre" class.

W.P.I.A.L. Has Best System

School Sending Largest Number To Tourney Games Gets Biggest Cut Of Gate

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, March 15.—After many years of wrangling, member schools of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association have succeeded finally in gaining a decent share of the gate receipts of tournament games. This year the proceeds will be split three ways. Fifty per cent of the gate will go to the association, and the two competing schools will receive twenty-five per cent each. The old ruling was that the schools merely received expenses and the committee got the "travels."

A consensus of "off the record" opinions of district chairmen showed that the western division of the league handled its tournament games in the smoothest and most efficient manner. The W. P. I. A. L.'s ruling is that the school which brings the largest number of participants to the games, gets the largest part of the gate. The crowd is judged by the number of tickets each school sells. This is more than fair, the consensus showed, as the tournament games were played on a neutral floor, almost equidistant from competing schools.

Keystones Will Play Loop Game At Falcon Court

Meet Ambridge Falcons In Beaver Valley Semi-Pro Battle Tonight

The Keystone A. C. basketball team will play the Ambridge Falcons at the New Castle Falcon court tonight in a Beaver Valley Semi-Pro league battle. The Keys, under Coach Andy Venditto, hope to annex this important game.

The Keys must win tonight to remain in the running for the semi-final title. This game will start at 7:30 o'clock, being a preliminary to the Falcon game.

Thursday night the Keys have booked the famous Cobus-Factor team of New Kensington for a game at the Falcon Court. This will be the biggest attraction of the year for the Keys at the popular Miller street floor, and will no doubt draw a big crowd.

The Cobus-Factor All-Stars recently handed the Falcons a defeat here. They have a number of widely recognized stars in the fold.

Royal Mail, the 1937 winner, regained his position as undisputed favorite for the Grand National steeplechase yesterday as two more American-owned horses were scratched from the March 25 race at Aintree, England. Royal Mail was held at 120 to 8 after the scratching of Paul America's American-owned Drummore Lad left Evan Williams available to ride last year's winner. Williams rode Royal Mail last year. The withdrawal of Drummore Lad and F. Ambrose Clark's La Tuiche reduced to four the American representatives in the race. The quarter includes Mrs. Marion Scott's Battleship, a son of Mar. O'War; J. B. Snow's Delachance, Robert Lehman's Didocir and F. M. Gould's What Have You, an offspring of Truster. Drummore was in no condition for the grueling test of speed and stamina and the racing strip was considered too hard for La Tuiche.

James J. Braddock, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, sustained bumps to his hands while extinguishing a minor blaze in his North Bergen, N. J. home yesterday. . . . After a poor exhibition in the morning round yesterday Picard and Revolta took command with a sensational nine-hole 27, seven under par.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRACHFUR
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 15.—Max O'War has one son in the Kentucky Derby this year, Warline, owned by Maxine. . . . Warline is owned by Mrs. W. W. Adams. . . . Four women have sent winners to the post in the Derby, the most recent of these being Mrs. Isah'l Dodge Stone, whose Cavalcade won in 1934. . . . Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand won in 1931. . . . Mrs. John D. Herz scored with Hugh Court ten years ago. . . . Mrs. Lark Darnell, whose colt, Ellwood, won in 1904.

Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Stone are trying again this year. Mrs. Whitney has named five colts, Gangplank, Perfect Peace and Reddervent, and of these Reddervent is the more likely choice. Reddervent is tough, according to his trainer, Bill Brennan, who wintered the colt at Red Bank, N. J., and has great stamina.

Mrs. Stone has nominated Traffic Light, son of Clock Tower. . . . Traffic Light's chances are regarded lightly as he was a 100 to 1 shot in the opening line.

But the name of another woman may be added to the winners list this year. Mrs. Ethel V. Mays, who races a big stable under the name of Milky Way Farms. . . . Mrs. Mays has four colts in the race. . . . Tiger, Mountain Rider, Parrell and C-Nore. . . . Tiger, brown son of Bull Dog, showed exceptional speed as a two-year-old, winning six of nine starts and $54,675, indicating, says O'Connell, "the great quality" held that Tiger's "some experts on breeding don't think Tiger will be interested beyond a mile."

Tiger Winters Well.
Bob McGurvy, who trains for Mrs. Mays, deems Tiger and Mountain Rider, son of Royal Minster, most likely to train well for an early race as May 1. . . . Tiger wintered in California, and has grown some two inches. . . . Mountain Rider also appears promising at Hot Springs, where he has been in slow training.

Mrs. Frank J. Navin, widow of the president of the Detroit Tigers, has nominated Last Message in sentimental memory of Mr. Navin, who was an ardent racing follower. . . . Last Message, by the way, is one of the three fillies in the race. . . . Abaneme, entered by Brian Sand, is another. . . . the third is Alvin Underlayers. . . . Although, brown daughter of Trimmer, we're not picking a filly to win this year, the nomination of Nellie May still rankling just a trifle.

One of the five sons of Gallant Fox entered in the race is owned by a woman. Mrs. Val Crane's Cavalcade, Madrona and Vase Fox. . . . Entries also are sons of the Derby winner of eight years ago, and Marshall Field's Caststock also is a son of Woodward's fine horse. . . . the fifth is Robber Bold, a bay colt owned by Cleveland Putnam.

K. P. GIRLS WIN
The K. P. girls basketball team trounced the St. Nick's girls at the K. P. hall 32 to 23 with Miss Borz, Miss Jaskolska and Miss Augustyn playing fine basketball for the winners, and Polerick and Uram best for the losers.

FIFTEEN TEAMS TO START PLAY

It is planned by General Chairman A. R. "Tom" Conn to have three games each night until there are only a few teams remaining in the running. The games will probably start at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock.

Regular qualified referees and umpires will handle all of the tourney games. The referees are donating their services to the cause of the Croton band uniform fund.

Each team will be allowed to have ten players on their list. All Westminster college players are barred. The New Castle high boys can play with individual teams but not as one team. It was ruled.

Baer May Get Shot At Louis, Jacobs Asserts

Will Substitute Maxie Baer For Schmeling If German Is Not Available

DETROIT BIDDING STRONG FOR BOUT

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, March 15.—The first time since this sensational boxing match was made in New York, promoter Mike Jacobs came out today with an open threat against Max Schmeling's status and equity in the scheduled world heavyweight championship fight with Joe Louis in June. The promoter said he would order Schmeling here from Germany "sooner" and if for any reason the fighter wasn't available, he said he would see just what he had in mind about "that" he would substitute Max Baer against Louis in June.

Asked when he planned the support of Schmeling, he said he would be in Detroit in the near future to make his decision.

"I'll let you know by next week," he said, "but sufficient time to indicate he knew something that I didn't."

Detroit and Chicago have already indicated that Schmeling and Louis would be most welcome in both cities, Detroit being quite pointed about it. The mayor, the city council and I think even the governor recently made overtures in connection with the match, but promoter Jacobs was very vague in his responses.

So much so in fact, that one must conclude that his anxiety about Schmeling's whereabouts, come next June, is not even close to the truth. He is not even sure of the man's whereabouts today on any basis, though, today on apparent point when he added with another meaning:

"If it turns out that Schmeling isn't available for the June bout, that doesn't mean he's out. We'll give him Louis any time he's ready, say, in September."

When informed of these statements, Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's American mouthpiece, declared that the German would positively be here when wanted, that "this business" in Austria would be done promptly and I must say that all of us will find that very comforting in this hour of needless alarm. Joe Jacobs says there isn't going to be any war.

Church League Games Wednesday Will End Season

There will be three fast games in the New Castle Church League at the "X" on Wednesday night, the final three games of the season's schedule. The first game starts at 8 o'clock.

The first game will find the Second U. P. opposing the Highland U. P. quintet. The second game will be a featured attraction as the Epworth team battles the Third U. P. five.

The third game will be the hardest fought of the night no doubt. If the First Baptists beat the Central Presbyterians they will annex the second half crown in the Class A league and having won the first half will be the Class A change with out a playoff series.

The Central Presbyterians are expected however to give the North street boys a hard engagement. The Presbyterians have come to the front fast this year.
